Specialty & Research Interests:

In recent years, I teach social work courses including Philosophy and Principles of Social Work, Human Behavior and the Social Environment, Youth Social Work, as well as Social Theories, Social Welfare and Social Work. I also teach general education courses such as Choices in Life: An Invitation to Self Development and Chung Chi College Senior Seminar: Service-Learning Program. My current research interests are in the areas of social exclusion and youth citizenship, youth services and new managerialism, politics of youth work practice, mutual aid and youth empowerment, service-learning and leadership development, and qualitative research methodology. In total, I have published over 160 articles on these areas, including 100 refereed publications in journals, books and conference proceedings. Since 2000, I have conducted 26 research projects. Among them, three are funded by RGC Competitive Earmarked Research Grant (CERG) or RGC General Research Fund (GRF) in the 2004-05, 2007-08 and 2009-10 exercises, and another 16 commissioned by government bureaus/NGOs in Hong Kong or Macau. Given my ongoing efforts in research, I received CUHK Research Excellence Award in 2010-11.
